Hi!

This issue marks a major milestone for Seventeen:

It's the first time we've ever put a reader on a cover of the mag! For the last year, we've been on a massive search for Pretty Amazing cover girls. We got 35,000 entries, narrowed it down to five of the most fascinating young women I've ever met, and ultimately picked the one girl who rose above the rest. Zoë is pretty—there's no doubt about it—and she has accomplished so many amazing things for a 20-year-old. (Read her whole story starting on page 116.) But what is so stunning is her attitude. When you meet her, she's so warm and girly—she reaches out to everyone around her to make them feel good about themselves. You can't help but be drawn to her—she's real.

When I was 17, it would have been completely insane to think that a girl like me or my friends could ever be on a cover of Seventeen. There were only picture-perfect models and the occasional up-and-coming celeb who got that honor. I would have never thought of myself in their league. Check out the October issue from when I was 17 (above). Cover girl Niki Taylor went on to be a major spokesmodel, but there's not a single sentence in the magazine about her life, her personality, or her achievements. Zero, zip, nada! She was just a pretty face. No one bothered to find out that there was an amazing girl on the inside.

A lot has changed since then. (Thank goodness!) We highlight what makes girls amazing every month—whether it's one of our favorite celebs or the girls in our stories. But to me, the Pretty Amazing cover is the ultimate celebration of our readers. If Zoë, a regular girl from Chicago, can land on a cover of Seventeen, so can you!

What makes you pretty amazing? E-mail me at ann@seventeen.com and tell me why I'm going to be seeing your face on our cover next year!

XOXO
-A.

THEN

Cover girl Niki Taylor was so cool—but she was on the cover only for being pretty!

NOW

Zoë is a girl who looks good and does good! So inspirational!

GET EVEN MORE PRETTY AMAZING!

The five finalists had a wild week in NYC as they competed for the cover! See all the fun at seventeen.com/prettyamazing.

Neutrogena®

Wave for Change™

This summer, Neutrogena® teamed up with GlobalGiving to give you a chance to be part of something bigger. Similar to Seventeen's Pretty Amazing finalists, girls like you took action to help make change a reality.

Neutrogena® kicked off this year's Wave for Change™ campaign with a minimum $100,000 donation, and you helped Neutrogena donate more, up to $250,000! By purchasing and registering your favorite products, Neutrogena was able to donate $1 per product to GlobalGiving charities like the ones below.

It's pretty amazing how far $1 can go—imagine what an impact $250,000 can make if we reach our donation goal!

Miranda Cosgrove
Education Supporter

EDUCATION

Arts for All offers artistic opportunities to in-need NYC children who otherwise would have little opportunity to explore their creative talents. $1 provides 15 minutes of an artistic workshop for one child.

ENVIRONMENT

TanzSolar Ltd. provides solar light to Tanzanian villagers. $1 helps a family read, study, and work for 6 months, eliminating the need for kerosene lanterns that contribute to indoor air pollution, illness, and fires.

Hayden Panettiere
Environment Supporter

Vanessa Hudgens
Disaster Recovery Supporter

DISASTER RECOVERY

Living Dreams enriches the lives of orphans. $1 provides arts and crafts materials to Japanese children displaced after the tragic earthquake and tsunami.

Visit Neutrogena.com/waveforchange to find out how much you and Neutrogena® Wave for Change™ raised for GlobalGiving and which charities will benefit from the Wave for Change™ donation!

Making a Difference in the World Is... Pretty Amazing!

The desire to help make a difference in the world is a trait Seventeen's Pretty Amazing finalists all share. They're proof that one person can create change in their community and beyond. Seventeen, Neutrogena® Wave for Change™, and GlobalGiving honored their work with a celebratory luncheon in New York City. The event was attended by Pretty Amazing judge and Neutrogena® brand ambassador, Miranda Cosgrove.

Miranda Cosgrove and Amy Oresman

Check out the finalists as Neutrogena® celebrity makeup artist, Amy Oresman, preps the girls for their big "red carpet" debut!

Oil-Free Acne Wash Pink Grapefruit & Makeup Remover Cleansing Towelettes

Before Amy applied makeup to Zoe's skin, Zoe cleansed with Oil-Free Acne Wash Pink Grapefruit. This #1 award-winning acne cleanser powerfully treats breakouts, even blackheads, all with a blast of 100% naturally derived grapefruit. At the end of the day, Zoe removed her makeup with Makeup Remover Cleansing Towelettes—effectively dissolving all traces of dirt, oil, and makeup for clean, fresh skin in one easy step!

SkinClearing Oil-Free Makeup

To give Shannon flawless looking skin, Amy used this exclusive formula with Neutrogena's proven blemish-fighting technology, Microclear™. This lightweight silky makeup gave her beautifully natural coverage while working undercover to clear breakouts. To accentuate her eyes, Amy lined Shannon's lashes with Neutrogena® Nourishing Eye Liner.

MoistureShine Gloss

For a finishing touch, Amy used this silky, sheer gloss on Lauren, leaving her lips feeling moisturized and looking shiny and beautiful. A single swipe of the wand gave her glossy pink color that wasn't sticky or tacky and lasted throughout the event!

WHAT you THINK!

Stuff you're talking about right now!

no more drama!

“ I truly admired the ABC Family stars for speaking out against bullying in ‘[Delete] Digital Drama’ in the August issue. Tyler Blackburn admitting that he’d considered suicide really hit home for me. I have felt suicidal in the past, and even though I am healthier now, I still can barely talk about it. Thank you for spreading the message that suicide is never the answer! ”

BAD HAIR DAY

Talk about cutting it close! Vanessa Hudgens recently freaked after she chopped off her hair for a movie role. Don't panic, V. Hudge! Reader Maddi, 17, from Clearfield, Utah, offers up this advice: “Short hair is so easy! You can curl it, pouf it, or flip it out. Cutting mine short is the best decision I ever made!” And, hey, it will grow back eventually.

twinsies!

Justin Bieber and his dad, Jeremy, got matching tattoos in the exact same spot. Do you think that's cute or kind of cheesy?

68% of you think it's CHEESY!

Bieber's tattoo is the Hebrew word for Jesus!

THE NEW FRAGRANCE FOR WOMEN

DAISY
MARC JACOBS

EAU SO FRESH

RIGHT NOW

There is a 15 year old girl in Africa about to give birth to her second child. Another in Central America who has never spent a day in school. And somewhere, a girl has to walk 15 hours a day to collect water for her family.

YOU CAN HELP HER

If you have the will to organize and the heart to make a difference, your friends at CLEAN & CLEAR® can help you succeed.

Be a HERo

Apply to be an official Girl Up HERo. Many are needed and one HERo will be selected to travel to NYC with her BFF for a:

- Visit to the United Nations
- Two-day mini-mentorship at the offices of Seventeen and Cosmopolitan Publishing
- $500 grant to continue her work in the community

You have the power to change the world.

The journey starts here:

facebook.com/cleanandclear

NO PURCHASE NECESSARY TO ENTER OR WIN. CLEAN & CLEAR® and Girl Up HERoes Contest. Sponsored by Hearst Communications, Inc. Contest begins on 8/1/2011 at 12:01 am ET and ends on 10/16/2011 at 11:59 pm ET. Go to facebook.com/cleanandclear (the "Contest Site"). Click on the Girl Up Tab and entrants can then enter the Contest through the application located in the Girl Up Tab by filling out and submitting the entry form provided. Video upload required for entry. Videos must be at least 1 minute and no more than 3 minutes. Videos may be no larger than 100MB in file size and must be in one of the following formats: .avi, .mov, .wmv, .mp4, .mpeg, or .flv. One grand prize winner and best friend will receive a 3-night trip to New York City, receive a 2-day mini-mentorship experience at Cosmopolitan Publishing and Seventeen magazine, and a $500 grant to be used toward the winner's cause. The winner and best friend will also receive a 1-day visit to the United Nations (provided by Girl Up). Must be 13 years or older, and a resident of the 50 United States or District of Columbia. Void where prohibited by law. Contest is subject to complete official rules available at facebook.com/cleanandclear.

MELANIE'S FESTIVAL DIARY: CONCERT CHIC CHEAT SHEET

FESTIVAL TIPS:

Pack lightly. Don't get mistaken for a crew member. Store essentials in a small bag or fanny pack.

Bring cash. Some festival vendors don't accept credit cards, so be sure to swing by the ATM first.

Keep makeup simple. Touch-up spots are hard to come by (portable toilets, anyone?), so stick to waterproof mascara, a tinted moisturizer with SPF, and a bright lipstick.

ONCE-A-DAY TOPICAL GEL THAT COMBINES TWO OF THE MOST WIDELY PRESCRIBED ACNE MEDICATIONS TO WORK ON THE BREAKOUTS YOU HAVE AND HELP PREVENT NEW ONES. EASY. // YOU COULD PAY NO MORE THAN $35* FOR YOUR EPIDUO® PRESCRIPTION. Go to Epiduo.com to find out how.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION: Epiduo® Gel is indicated for the topical treatment of acne vulgaris in patients 12 years and older. Apply to affected skin once per day, avoiding the eyes, lips and mucous membranes. The most common adverse events associated with use of Epiduo® Gel are redness, scaling, dryness, stinging and burning. In addition, you may also experience contact dermatitis and/or skin irritation. These side effects typically resolve during the first four weeks of treatment, but speak to your doctor if they persist. You should avoid excessive exposure to sunlight and sunlamps while using Epiduo® Gel, and using sunscreen products and protective clothing is recommended. Do not use irritating topical products that contain resorcinol, salicylic acid or sulfur when using Epiduo® Gel. Epiduo® Gel has not been tested in pregnant or nursing women, or with the elderly. Pregnancy Category C.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch, or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Please see Brief Summary of Prescribing Information on next page.

Epiduo®
(adapalene and benzoyl peroxide) Gel 0.1% / 2.5%

EPIDUO™

(adapalene and benzoyl peroxide) Gel 0.1% / 2.5%

For Topical Use OnlyNot For Ophthalmic, Oral, or Intravaginal Use.*BRIEF SUMMARY*INDICATIONS AND USAGE

EPIDUO Gel is a combination of adapalene, a retinoid, and benzoyl peroxide, and is indicated for the topical treatment of acne vulgaris in patients 12 years of age and older.

CONTRAINDICATIONS

None.

WARNINGS AND PRECAUTIONS

Ultraviolet Light and Environmental Exposure: Avoid exposure to sunlight and sunlamps. Wear sunscreen when sun exposure cannot be avoided.

Erythema, scaling, dryness, and stinging/burning may occur with use of EPIDUO Gel.

ADVERSE REACTIONS

Observed local adverse reactions in patients treated with EPIDUO Gel were erythema, scaling, dryness, stinging, and burning. Other most commonly reported adverse events ($\geq 1\%$) in patients treated with EPIDUO Gel were dry skin, contact dermatitis, application site burning, application site irritation, skin irritation.

DRUG INTERACTIONS

Exercise caution in using preparations containing sulfur, resorcinol, or salicylic acid, medicated or abrasive soaps and cleansers and products with high concentrations of alcohol or astringents in combination with EPIDUO Gel.

Concomitant use of topical products with a strong drying effect can increase irritation. Use with caution.

Pregnancy

Pregnancy Category C. There are no well-controlled trials in pregnant women treated with EPIDUO Gel. Animal reproduction studies have not been conducted with the combination gel or benzoyl peroxide. Furthermore, such studies are not always predictive of human response; therefore, EPIDUO Gel should be used during pregnancy only if the potential benefit justifies the risk to the fetus.

No teratogenic effects were observed in rats treated with oral doses of 0.15 to 5.0 mg adapalene/kg/day, up to 25 times (mg/m²/day) the maximum recommended human dose (MRHD) of 2 grams of EPIDUO Gel. However, teratogenic changes were observed in rats and rabbits when treated with oral doses of ≥ 25 mg adapalene/kg/day representing 123 and 246 times MRHD, respectively. Findings included cleft palate, microphthalmia, encephalocele and skeletal abnormalities in rats; and umbilical hernia, exophthalmos and kidney and skeletal abnormalities in rabbits. Dermal teratology studies conducted in rats and rabbits at doses of 0.6-6.0 mg adapalene/kg/day [25-59 times (mg/m²) the MRHD] exhibited no fetotoxicity and only minimal increases in supernumerary ribs in both species and delayed ossification in rabbits.

Nursing Mothers

It is not known whether adapalene or benzoyl peroxide is excreted in human milk following use of EPIDUO Gel. Because many drugs are excreted in human milk, caution should be exercised when EPIDUO Gel is administered to a nursing woman.

Pediatric Use

Safety and effectiveness of EPIDUO Gel in pediatric patients under the age of 12 have not been established.

Geriatric Use

Clinical studies of EPIDUO Gel did not include sufficient numbers of subjects aged 65 and over to determine whether they respond differently from younger subjects.

Carcinogenesis, Mutagenesis, Impairment of Fertility

No carcinogenicity, photocarcinogenicity, genotoxicity, or fertility studies were conducted with EPIDUO Gel.

Carcinogenicity studies with adapalene have been conducted in mice at topical doses of 0.4, 1.3, and 4.0 mg/kg/day (1.2, 3.9, and 12 mg/m²/day), and in rats at oral doses of 0.15, 0.5, and 1.5 mg/kg/day (0.9, 3.0, and 9.0 mg/m²/day). In terms of body surface area, the highest dose levels are 9.8 (mice) and 7.4 times (rats) the MRHD of 2 grams of EPIDUO Gel. In the rat study, an increased incidence of benign and malignant pheochromocytomas in the adrenal medulla of male rats was observed.

No significant increase in tumor formation was observed in rodents topically treated with 15-25% benzoyl peroxide carbopol gel (6-10 times the concentration of benzoyl peroxide in EPIDUO Gel) for two years. Rats received maximum daily applications of 138 (males) and 205 (females) mg benzoyl peroxide/kg. In terms of body surface area, these levels are 27-40 times the MRHD. Similar results were obtained in mice topically treated with 25% benzoyl peroxide carbopol gel for 56 weeks followed by intermittent treatment with 15% benzoyl peroxide carbopol gel for rest of the 2 years study period, and in mice topically treated with 5% benzoyl peroxide carbopol gel for two years.

The role of benzoyl peroxide as a tumor promoter has been well established in several animal species. However, the significance of this finding in humans is unknown.

In a photocarcinogenicity study conducted with 5% benzoyl peroxide carbopol gel, no increase in UV-induced tumor formation was observed in hairless mice topically treated for 40 weeks.

No photocarcinogenicity studies were conducted with adapalene. However, animal studies have shown an increased tumorigenic risk with the use of pharmacologically similar drugs (e.g., retinoids) when exposed to UV irradiation in the laboratory or sunlight. Although the significance of these findings to humans is not clear, patients should be advised to avoid or minimize exposure to either sunlight or artificial irradiation sources.

Adapalene did not exhibit mutagenic or genotoxic effects in vitro (Ames test, Chinese hamster ovary cell assay, mouse lymphoma TK assay) or in vivo (mouse micronucleus test).

Bacterial mutagenicity assays (Ames test) with benzoyl peroxide has provided mixed results, mutagenic potential was observed in a few but not in a majority of investigations. Benzoyl peroxide has been shown to produce single-strand DNA breaks in human bronchial epithelial and mouse epidermal cells, it has caused DNA-protein cross-links in the human cells, and has also induced a dose-dependent increase in sister chromatid exchanges in Chinese hamster ovary cells.

In rat oral studies, 20 mg adapalene/kg/day (120 mg/m²/day; 98 times the MRHD based on mg/m²/day comparison) did not affect the reproductive performance and fertility of F₀ males and females, or growth, development and reproductive function of F₁ offspring.

No fertility studies were conducted with benzoyl peroxide.

PATIENT COUNSELING INFORMATION

- Advise patients to cleanse the area to be treated with a mild or soapless cleanser; pat dry. Apply EPIDUO Gel as a thin layer, avoiding the eyes, lips and mucous membranes.
- Advise patients not to use more than the recommended amount and not to apply more than once daily as this will not produce faster results, but may increase irritation.
- EPIDUO Gel may cause irritation such as erythema, scaling, dryness, stinging or burning.
- Advise patients to minimize exposure to sunlight, including sunlamps. Recommend the use of sunscreen products and protective apparel, (e.g., hat) when exposure cannot be avoided.
- EPIDUO Gel may bleach hair and colored fabric.

MARY KAY

PROMOTION

FALL INTO YOUR BEAUTY

WITH THE smokyeye

Break out your beauty notebook, it's time to take notes on how to achieve the smoky eye—day or night. The Mary Kay® Mineral Eye Color Collection has over 30 great colors to choose from.

DAY DREAMER

1 Apply a light, neutral eye color (try Moonstone) across the lid and above the crease as a base. The best colors have a little shimmer, allowing accent colors to pop! 2 Trace the lashline with eyeliner in Black (start on the inside and get thicker towards the end). 3 Layer in darker eye color shades to the crease, extending outward (velvety purples and light browns, like Iris and Cinnabar, are perfect). 4 Apply several coats of Love Lash™ Mascara in I♥Black to the top lashes, leaving the bottom lashes au naturel. Hold the wand horizontally and wiggle back and forth for a lush look.

Transition this chic day look to a dramatic night look: 1 Amp up the color by brushing a deeper shade like Cinnabar along the middle of the lid, fanning out towards the crease. 2 Intensify the smolder effect by adding a darker color (like Espresso) along the crease. 3 Blend these darker colors along the bottom lash line, adding whimsical flair by extending color from corner. 4 Add eyeliner in deep brown or black to the bottom lashes. (Mary Kay's eyeliners are mechanical and never require sharpening!) 5 Coat the bottom lashes with Love Lash™ Mascara in I♥Black. Hold the wand vertically, brushing the lashes for just the right amount of definition.

The Beauty Smarties have some beauty tricks and treats for you.
So are you feeling sweet . . . or spooky? BY molly ritterbeck michelle's look:

FIERCE VAMPIRE

"I go for the scarier Halloween looks, because I can be more creative and rock colors I normally wouldn't wear." Watch her videos at: seventeen.com/beautysmarties.

try: L'Oréal Paris True Match Super-Blendable Blush in Rosy Outlook, $11, drugstores

try: Lancôme Artliner in Noir, $29, department stores

HOW-TO:

apply color

"Red is an unnatural shade on eyes, so it gives this look an extra-erie feel. Use blush as a shadow and blend around your entire eye with a small brush."

define shape

"Line both top and bottom lashlines with liquid liner. Add extra wings at the outer corners and a slight curve at the lower inner corner."

add drama

"Finish off the look with your favorite red lipstick. Then use a super-dark plum in just the center of your lips—it will give them a blood-red effect!"

try: MAC Cosmetics Lipstick in Cyber, $15, maccosmetics.com

17 FYI: Pick a foundation a few shades lighter than your natural color and wear purple contact lenses to get an "undead" vibe.

try: Illamasqua False Eye Lashes No. 23, $16, sephora.com

try: Stila Eye Shadow Trio in Going Green, $20, stilacosmetics.com

try: Make Up For Ever Strass in #11 Crystal and #16 Emerald Green, $20 each, Sephora stores

HOW-TO:

contour lids

"Rim your eyes in lime-green shadow and use a darker shade to create depth in creases and along lower lashlines. Wing it out dramatically toward temples."

line eyes

"Make your eyes really pop by lining the lower inner rims with a white liner, then use the black shadow in the trio to line your upper lashline."

apply lashes

"Use tweezers to apply major falsies along your top lashline. Use extra lash glue to add a few jewels around your eye to complete the shimmery look!"

get perfect brows

Your brows are like a picture frame for your face. Make sure they're doing your pretty features justice! BY molly ritterbeck

how-to:

TRIM ON TOP

Find your shape by combing brows up with a spoolie brush. (It looks like a mascara wand.) With small shaping scissors, trim any tips that rise above the rest of your brow.

MEASURE INSIDE

Find where your brows should start by lining up the end of the brush with the inside bridge of your nose. Tweeze hairs that fall on the other side, between your brows.

DEFINE THE ARCH

Hold your brush straight up along your outer iris, then tilt it 45° toward your temple—that's where the highest point of your arch should be. Pluck strands underneath to define this point. Don't do too much: you'll make the arch too thin!

FIND THE END

To find the end of your eyebrow, create a line that begins at your nostril and continues past the outer corner of your eye. Remove any stray hairs that fall below your brush.

17 FYI: Always pull hairs out in the direction of the hair growth to minimize pain!

YOUR TOOL KIT:

Get in shape with these must-haves!

TWEEZERS Slanted tips let you get as close to the root as possible, so you don't break hairs in half and end up with pesky stubble!

try: Japonesque Multi-Flower-Patterned Artisan Tweezers, $20, ULTA stores

PENCIL Use short quick strokes to fill in sparse spots and to define your shape. The color should match your natural brow so it doesn't look too obvious.

try: L'Oréal Paris Brow Stylist Professional in Medium-Dark Brown, $10, drugstores

SCISSORS The extra-pointy tips can snip hairs one at a time—and the curvy shape makes them super-comfy to hold!

try: Tweezerman Brow Shaping Scissors, $18, tweezerman.com

LAUTNER

STRONG ON THE OUTSIDE, SWEET ON THE INSIDE.

BY CARISSA ROSENBERG TOZZI

Taylor Lautner is so much more than your average pretty boy. Yes, his twinkling eyes, killer smile, and insanely muscular body are enough to make you want to beg for a werewolf bite—but his most irresistible quality is his passion. “I always give 110 percent to everything I do, whether I’m studying for a test or I’m at football practice,” he explains. “I guess you can call me an overachiever.”

For a 19-year-old, Taylor has achieved a lot—even before he won the coveted role of Jacob in The Twilight Saga at 16. Growing up in Grand Rapids, Michigan, Taylor practiced karate, and by age 10 had won multiple world championship titles. But during that time, he also fell in love with acting, and by the time he was 11 his family had relocated to a suburb of Los Angeles so he could start auditioning. It didn’t take long before he landed a title role in the blockbuster family film The Adventures of Sharkboy and Lavagirl 3-D. Although he was a natural on camera, he became obsessed with film production and learned to develop his skills through his high school video production class. “I’ve always been interested in behind-the-camera stuff,” he says. “We got to direct, write, produce and edit movies and music videos—I loved it.” But the experience also set him up for massive movie stardom, putting him on the same path as acting-producing superstars Tom Cruise and Matt Damon—his idols. With four Twilight movies under his belt, and a fifth one coming out next year, Taylor is about to reach his biggest achievement yet: Not only is he starring in the action-thriller film Abduction (in theaters September 23), but he also produced the film through his own production company, Quick Six. (He named it after his fantasy football team!)

But work isn’t all that he’s passionate about—he admits that he loves having a girlfriend. “I’m extremely loyal to whomever I’m dating,” he reveals. He’s been linked to a list of Hollywood sweethearts, including Selena Gomez and Taylor Swift. But most recently, he’s been spending all his free time with his Abduction costar, Lily Collins. He’s a total gentleman and refuses to discuss his relationship status with Lily on the record, but when she visited him at our cover shoot, he happily introduced her to everyone as his girlfriend and used every free moment to shoot her a smile or steal a kiss. Taylor is the total package: When he’s not melting your heart, he’ll inspire you to achieve your dreams.

17: What were you like in high school?

Taylor Lautner: I was viewed as a little bit of an outcast. I didn't have one group of friends who I hung out with every single day. I would have friends on my football team, friends in drama, friends in video production, and I would hang out with different people. I know that wasn't the normal thing to do in high school. The normal thing is to be in a group or be a part of a clique. But for me, I love hanging out with different people and just having fun.

17: You said you consider yourself an overachiever. Why do you think you're so focused and driven in everything you do?

TL: A lot of that has to do with sports and martial arts I did growing up. That taught me discipline and, most important, hard work. You don't just go to bed and wake up the next morning and everything has fallen into place for you. It takes a lot of hard work to get where you want to go.

17: Do you find that you are attracted to people who are as driven as you are?

TL: Yeah. It's definitely a little bit of a turnoff when people are lazy. We all feel lazy at some point, but I definitely respect people who work hard at what they do and who are passionate about what they love.

17: In the Twilight films and in Abduction, you play these guys who are not afraid to show their sensitive side. When was the last time you cried?

TL: I don't know if I'm a crier. Everyone has some sort of a wall up and gets embarrassed. But I've always been pretty open with my emotions. I think it's fair to say that as you get older, you feel more comfortable in your own skin, and you're able to show emotions that you weren't so comfortable with when you were younger.

17: Have you ever had your heart broken?

TL: Yeah, of course. That's something that everyone has to go through. When a breakup happened, I talked to everyone. My family and my friends are extremely important to talk to. I think the only way to get through it is to just talk about it as soon as it happens. But then, it's really important to move on and forget about it—because then there comes a point where the more you talk about it, the more it's just going to hurt you.

17: Have you ever needed to do anything more drastic to move on from an ex?

TL: I wouldn't be able to look at any pictures [of my ex] or anything like that. But thankfully things have always ended pretty smoothly for me, and I'm able to be friends with my exes afterward. Nothing has ever been so rough that I've not wanted them in my life or that I deleted their phone number. I've been lucky.

17: What do you look for in a girl?

TL: Loyalty is extremely, extremely important to me. So I always look for a girl who's loyal—that's probably the number one thing on my list.

Loyalty is extremely important to me.

17: You met Lily during casting for Abduction over a year ago. Has she changed at all since that first meeting?

TL: The amazing thing about Lily is that she was super-open and funny and goofy to begin with. And she definitely did not change at all from the first time I met her. That's probably the most impressive thing about her—she wasn't afraid to be herself.

17: At Lily's audition, did you have an obvious connection?

TL: Absolutely. You can feel some sort of chemistry or a connection when you are reading a script with someone for the first time. And that was totally the case with Lily.

17: Why is it important to you to keep details of your relationship with Lily private?

TL: I think there are some things that you really want to share with everyone, and then there are some things that you want to keep to yourself, because it feels more special if it's just for you.

17: Where do you see yourself in five years?

TL: I believe in the saying, “If you aim at nothing, you're going to hit nothing.” So if you don't set goals, then you have nowhere to go. I guess winning an Oscar is the ultimate dream. A lot of amazing actors go their whole career without even being nominated. So that would definitely be a goal to reach. It's a difficult one, but I'm aiming for it!

more you talk about it, the more it's just going to hurt you.

17: Have you ever needed to do anything more drastic to move on from an ex?

TL: I wouldn't be able to look at any pictures [of my ex] or anything like that. But thankfully things have always ended pretty smoothly for me, and I'm able to be friends with my exes afterward. Nothing has ever been so rough that I've not wanted them in my life or that I deleted their phone number. I've been lucky.

17: What do you look for in a girl?

TL: Loyalty is extremely, extremely important to me. So I always look for a girl who's loyal—that's probably the number one thing on my list.

Loyalty is extremely important to me.

17: You met Lily during casting for Abduction over a year ago. Has she changed at all since that first meeting?

TL: The amazing thing about Lily is that she was super-open and funny and goofy to begin with. And she definitely did not change at all from the first time I met her. That's probably the most impressive thing about her—she wasn't afraid to be herself.

17: At Lily's audition, did you have an obvious connection?

TL: Absolutely. You can feel some sort of chemistry or a connection when you are reading a script with someone for the first time. And that was totally the case with Lily.

17: Why is it important to you to keep details of your relationship with Lily private?

TL: I think there are some things that you really want to share with everyone, and then there are some things that you want to keep to yourself, because it feels more special if it's just for you.

17: Where do you see yourself in five years?

TL: I believe in the saying, “If you aim at nothing, you're going to hit nothing.” So if you don't set goals, then you have nowhere to go. I guess winning an Oscar is the ultimate dream. A lot of amazing actors go their whole career without even being nominated. So that would definitely be a goal to reach. It's a difficult one, but I'm aiming for it!

Taylor

Dave

FRANCO

Don't be fooled by that pretty face! James Franco's little bro has a dark sense of humor—and a dirty mouth!

17: Your Funny or Die videos—like “Acting Lessons with James Franco”—are hilarious. Do you go for girls who are funny too?

Dave Franco: I need a girl who's funny. That doesn't mean she has to be the most clever or witty person in the world, but she has to get my sense of humor. I definitely have a messed-up, twisted sense of humor. I don't consider myself a comedian—I'm not the joke-a-minute type.

17: If a girl is making jokes about you, can you take it?

DF: I definitely appreciate a girl who can give it back! I'm not super-sensitive about people making fun of me because I totally dish it back, but when I'm dating someone, I push the limits sometimes. She'll say, “You've got to be nice to me!” Sometimes I get carried away! Growing up with two older brothers, I've had to learn to take some beatings.

WHERE TO FIND HIM: He stars in a movie adaptation of 21 Jump Street (the '80s TV series that made Johnny Depp famous!), in theaters March 16.

Denzel

WHITAKER

He's been chasing after girls with costar Taylor Lautner since they were kids. Best wingman ever!

17: You've known Taylor for several years now. What was he like back in the day?

Denzel Whitaker: Taylor and I were always running around parties trying to figure out which girl was the cutest. So I don't think too much has changed!

17: So you're girl crazy! Does that mean you're a player?

DW: I don't think playing games gets you anywhere. It's like, You didn't call me back for this long, so I'm going to wait before I call you back. No! If you feel like calling a person, call him! I can tell the maturity level of someone based entirely on whether she plays games. Move on from that.

17: Okay, Mr. Zero Games—are you saying you've never asked for a girl's number with no intention of calling?

DW: I will admit I ask for a lot of numbers and it doesn't mean anything. I'm notoriously bad about that. My friends are like, “Dude, you got her number?” And I'm just like, “Yeah, and . . . ?”

WHERE TO FIND HIM: Buddying up with Taylor in Abduction, in theaters September 23.

Logan

LERMAN

You remember him from Percy Jackson, but he's about to be everywhere. Get ready to hard-core crush!

17: You have two huge projects coming up. Are you more like the confident guy you play in The Three Musketeers or like shy Charlie in The Perks of Being a Wallflower?

Logan Lerman: I'm shy in real life! So I relate more to Charlie. He is the kind of person who carries a lot of weight on his shoulders and tries to act like everything is okay. I'm very similar to him in that way.

17: Any dish on your Perks costar Emma Watson?

LL: She's surprisingly normal! She's a very sweet, nice person. She's got a good head on her shoulders. It's refreshing.

17: What quality hooks you on a girl?

LL: This sounds clichéd, but just be a good person. That's number one on my checklist of musts. Just be the definition of a good person: nice, friendly, loving.

17: Have you made any major love mistakes?

LL: When you're younger, you try hard to be what the other person wants. But the key is to just be yourself—find that person who accepts you for who you are.

WHERE TO FIND HIM: Check out his sexy sword-fighting skills in The Three Musketeers, in theaters October 21; then he'll star in The Perks of Being a Wallflower, out next year.

“When it comes to girls, I'm still clueless!”

Joshua

BOWMAN

“I love girls who turn me on mentally, who keep me on my feet, and play me at my own game.”

This sexy Brit has a history of famous flings (Miley! Cassie Scerbo!)—but swears he's the one who always gets played.

17: Are American girls different from British girls?

Joshua Bowman: Absolutely! The banter is different, even the language is different. American girls are very endearing to me because it's something I'm not used to. But the best type of girl is respectful, trustworthy, and honest, and you don't get that in Hollywood. When I move back to London one day, hopefully I'll find my belle.

17: When you're dating in the US, it's a big deal to make the relationship official. . . .

JB: I'm going to stop you there, because what the hell is "dating"? Basically, two people can fool around with other people, but then when they're together, they're together. I don't get that at all. For me, it's either on or it's off.

17: Do you fall in love easily?

JB: I am a hopeless romantic. We all become Shakespeare when we fall in love. We become poets. Love letters, sending flowers—I love all that.

17: Have you ever been burned?

JB: Yes. But I'd rather be hurt than hurt someone else. That's why, most of the time, I'm not the one to end the relationship. I just pick the bad girls. My grandma used to say, "Only a fool makes the same mistake twice." But I always make the same mistake. I'm quite naive in love.

WHERE TO FIND HIM: Starring in the new TV series Revenge (premieres September 21 at 10 p.m. on ABC) and in So Undercover, in theaters next year.

Landon

LIBOIRON

In his new show Terra Nova, he travels back in time—in real life, his past is filled with major love lessons.

17: What's the biggest thing you've learned about love?

Landon Liboiron: The first time I fell completely in love, I was in grade 11. I never told her, and I never even got to date her! But I still realized how it felt. So anytime I'm with a girl and I don't feel that again, I'm not going to waste her time. Because I now know what I need to feel.

17: What does love feel like?

LL: Love is like a bee. It can hurt, but it can also make the sweetest thing in the world.

17: So when it comes to love, do you dive right in?

LL: It's really important not to half-ass anything. If something, like a relationship, scares you, then it means you should probably do it for the experience. It's not going to be easy, but it sure is fun!

WHERE TO FIND HIM: Saving the world in Terra Nova, premiering September 26 at 8 P.M. on Fox.

Anton

YELCHIN

The Like Crazy star is no stranger to long-distance relationships on and off the screen.

17: Have you ever been in a long-distance relationship?

Anton Yelchin: Yeah. Inevitably, when you leave for work, you end up leaving certain people for months at a time. It's hard.

17: Are there any advantages to the distance?

AY: Definitely—when you finally get a chance to see the person, you really appreciate every moment you have together. Time apart also gives you a chance to understand things about yourself. That may mean your feelings change—but at least you'll know for sure.

17: Have you ever royally screwed up a relationship?

AY: I used to date people for way too long. I didn't understand who I should really be with, so the relationship would carry on forever. Then I had that moment, like, What am I doing? It's great, because then you can finally move on.

WHERE TO FIND HIM: Starring as a lovesick long-distance boyfriend in Like Crazy, out October 28.

“I’m always the first person to go in for the kiss. But if a girl went in for a kiss, that would be so cool!”

Kenny WORMALD

This pro dancer and Footloose star has moves so crazy-hot, you’ll sweat just looking at him!

17: They say you can tell how well a guy kisses by how well he dances. True?

Kenny Wormald: Really? I must be a damn good kisser, because I think I’m a pretty decent dancer!

17: Did you learn to dance to get girls?

KW: My parents signed me up for dance classes when I was just 6 years old. I would jump on the table and do Michael Jackson moves. But for a 6-year-old, grabbing your crotch isn’t really appropriate! So they were like, “Let’s channel this energy,” and they enrolled me at a local dance studio. I fell in love right away. When I got to high school, being in a dance class with 30 to 40 girls obviously didn’t hurt. But when I was 6, I thought girls had cooties!

17: Your Footloose character, Ren, is a bad boy. Are you?

KW: Being from Boston, I’ve got a bit of a tough-guy persona. But I’m a mama’s boy at the same time!

WHERE TO FIND HIM: Catch his breakout role in Footloose, in theaters October 14.

You think you know the people you go to school with. But Kayla's classmate turned an average day into a nightmare! AS TOLD TO jane bianchi

Wisconsin Gunman Shoots Himself After Standoff

This fall marks the one-year anniversary of the scariest experience of my life. For me and the 23 students in my sophomore history class at Marinette High School in my small town in Wisconsin, it's the day that Sam—someone we'd gone to school with for six years—came to class with a gun.

Back-to-school is definitely different this year. Everyone now realizes the impact of making stupid jokes, like saying "I'm going to kill you." Instead, the vibe in the halls is more about kindness—I feel closer to everyone now. People understand if I'm still jumpy when someone drops a weight in the gym and why it gives me the creeps to walk by that classroom.

I keep thinking of Sam, with his dark hair and beautiful smile, and will always wonder what made him do something so drastic. Though we weren't close, I'd known him since fifth grade. He was a nice, smart, quiet guy who never seemed sad or angry. He was known for being obsessed with the Packers, fishing, and Boy Scouts. But nobody ever thought that he'd take us hostage.

TERRIFYING TRAP

It was sixth period, the second to last class of the day, around 2 P.M. We were watching a movie on historical heroes—trying not to fall asleep—when Sam went to the bathroom, saying he felt sick. When he came back, we snapped awake, because he was holding a gun and shot a bullet into our teacher's desk! There was stunned silence. I held my breath and tried not to cry, afraid any sudden move would make him shoot again.

Without saying a word, Sam pulled a stool to the front of the room and faced us, jingling bullets in his pocket to let us know he had more ammo. It felt like an unspoken threat: If you move, I'll shoot you. I wanted to call 911, but Sam commanded us to put our phones in the middle of the room. I had no idea what he wanted from us. So I flipped over the worksheet on my desk and wrote a letter to my family, saying I love you, in case I died.

Minutes later, Sam asked in a mellow voice, "How's it going, guys?" I thought it was weird that he was asking a casual question in such an intense situation. One brave classmate replied, "Pretty good, you?" That broke the ice. Then we all talked to Sam about the stuff we knew he liked. Our teacher mouthed, "Keep talking." Anything that kept Sam distracted made us feel safer.

“There was an unspoken threat. If you move, I'll shoot you.”

GREAT ESCAPE

For the next hour, we eyed Sam's gun and kept the conversation going. After the final bell rang, school officials noticed that my class was missing, and our two principals stepped into the room. But when Sam pointed his gun at them, they left fast, looking pale with fear.

More hours passed, and all we could do was keep chatting. Then Sam let a few students go to the bathroom. Of course, they never came back. As they left, I'd hear voices in the hall yell, "Hands on your head!" I felt hopeful knowing the police were outside, but the rest of us were still trapped—Sam said nobody else could leave.

Around 8 P.M., our conversation with Sam dwindled and he looked bored. Suddenly, he shot my teacher's computer. I jumped back in my chair, and within seconds, a SWAT team knocked down the door and tackled Sam. My heart was pounding with fear, but I felt relieved that someone was saving us! Just before I ran out of the room, I heard a gunshot. I thought maybe the SWAT team had shot Sam. But the next morning I found out that Sam had actually shot and killed himself.

aftershocks
Following the incident, students cling to each other for support.

It was devastating. We'll never know what made Sam do this. The police didn't find a suicide note, and there were no drugs or alcohol in his system. So it was—and still is—a mystery.

MOVING FORWARD

My classmates and I weren't the only victims. Sam was a victim, too—just in a different way. He must have been suffering inside. Of course I'm angry that he put my life at risk, but I feel sorry for him. When I get overly anxious, I can see a counselor anytime. I just wish Sam were still here, so he could also get the help he must have needed. 17

RED FLAGS

What happened to Kayla came out of the blue, but sometimes there are warning signs.

JOKES THAT SEEM LIKE THREATS

If a student says, "I'll blow up this building," don't assume that he is kidding.

BRAGGING ABOUT WEAPONS

Speak up if a guy at school is like, "Check this out!" and points to a knife or gun in his locker.

UNUSUAL BEHAVIOR

When a classmate isn't acting like himself, don't keep it to yourself.

If you notice any of the above, tell a teacher or administrator ASAP.

get killer confidence!

by Heather Morris

Heather went from Glee backup dancer to scene-stealer by flashing her star quality. Use her tips to achieve your dreams!

My #1 confidence trick is making people laugh—when I’m a dork, it breaks the ice.

The best way to get what you want is to go out and get it! It’s simple!

I make a good first impression by working my tush off, being on time, and being friendly.

Whenever I get discouraged, I’m always cheered up by Goldfish.

Having confidence is so important, because without it, no one can see the things that make you unique (even if you’re not confident about those things yet . . . just give ‘em time).

“Before a big event, I focus and concentrate. You have to envision what you want in life, and then go after it!”

At Comic-Con, Heather talked about her character’s relationship with Santana.

When I want people to take me seriously, I put on a serious face.

My mantra is “It’s all about the journey.” Without it, you would never reach your goal!

A total confidence-buster: Never, ever, ever act like someone else.

To stand out from the crowd, I dance like a maniac.

Heather’s big moment was taking the lead in the Britney Spears episode.

X Sorry, Justin!

75% of you would rather have $1,000 than a date with Justin Bieber!

"Justin is talented and cute, but I'd take the $1,000! A date would just be a onetime thing. But the money could go a lot further than a night!"

—JORDAN, 17, HAYWARD, CA

29% of you said you've stolen cash from your parents!

Shh... Mom will never notice it's missing!

"One night my mom told me and my brother to eat leftovers while she went out, but we were dying for pizza! So before she left, I snuck $20 out of her purse and placed the order for a large one with extra cheese!"

STORIES!

scared stiff

Molly (Emma Bell) in Final Destination 5 fears for her life every time she turns around.

the freakiest thing i ever saw!

It's fun to get a little scared by a Ouija board or Light as a Feather, but these girls got seriously spooked.

"I VISITED A HAUNTED ORPHANAGE!"

“There's a legend about an old orphanage near my house that caught fire in the early 1900s where a lot of kids died. My friends and I were curious, so we went at midnight to check it out. It's basically just a pile of rubble in the woods now. After a few minutes, we heard kids giggling and shoes crunching on leaves. Terrified, we sprinted to my car and saw that my windshield was covered with tiny handprints!”

—ERIN, 19, CLEVELAND, OH

"MY DEAD GRANDMOTHER COMMUNICATES WITH ME!"

“Just before my grandma died, she said she'd play with the lights to let us know that her spirit was around. A few months later, the lights in my house would randomly come on while we were asleep! One night, my mom yelled, 'Funny, Mom, but turn off the lights!' The lights went off on cue! It's weird but comforting to know Grandma is there—though it totally freaked out my boyfriend when we were watching movies in the dark and Grandma turned on the lights! Now he won't be alone in the house. He even makes me sit outside the bathroom when he pees!”

—TARA, 15, OKEECHOBEE, FL

"THERE'S A GHOST IN MY BEDROOM!"

“One day, my mom lost her favorite necklace. We looked for hours, stripping every bed, thinking it had fallen under sheets. We still hadn't found it! But when we went back to my room, my bed was made and the necklace was sitting on it in a perfect ball! We were alone in the house, so we were freaked out, but then we realized there must be a friendly ghost in my room!”

AGE: 19

HOMETOWN: Chicago, IL

THE WINNER!

With homelessness behind her and high fashion on the horizon, Zoë has proven that she's more than a survivor—she's a success.

“The first time someone offered to pay me to make her a dress, I couldn’t believe it! It was my friend Simone—an amazing dancer—so I made it ballet-style, with spaghetti straps and a tutu bottom. I sold it for $13—and the day she wore it to school, girls stopped her in the halls and said, ‘Cool outfit!’ I felt so proud! Growing up, I never fit in. My family didn’t have money, and I had medical issues, so I got made fun of for wearing an eye patch, a scoliosis brace, and hand-me-downs. But here I was, designing clothes—finally getting the respect I’d always wanted!

humble beginnings

I had a rough childhood. When my mom emigrated from Ecuador to the US, she had trouble getting jobs. When she got pregnant with me, my dad bolted. We were on our own. By day, she worked as a clown at Six Flags. At night, she took college classes to get a higher-paying job and make our lives better.

It was tough for her to make ends meet. When we weren’t crashing on relatives’ couches, we lived in low-income housing. When things got really bad, we even had to stay in a homeless shelter. My mom and I slept on one twin cot in a room filled with people, hiding our stuff under our bed so nobody would steal it. I kept thinking, Why are we here?

But Mom taught me that you can’t sit around feeling sorry for yourself. When I turned 8 and we were finally living in a house, I was dying for a Razor scooter. But it was $60! My mom said, ‘If you earn half, I’ll pay for the other half.’ So I used art supplies to create greeting cards, and sold them on the sidewalk. I earned my $30! I realized that I didn’t have to accept my situation—I had the power to change it. I was tired of being too poor to get ice cream with my friends or to buy new clothes. From that point on, I was determined to dig myself and my mom out of the financial hole we were in.

When I entered middle school, I got picked on so much about my wardrobe that I felt like a misfit. So when I wasn’t selling cards, I’d curl up with a sketchbook and draw dresses I’d wear someday.

Creating pretty things was the only thing that helped me forget the nasty comments.

passion for fashion

Freshman year, I heard that a sewing class was being offered. Could I turn my ideas into actual clothes?!? As I sewed my first dress, I was shocked at how naturally it came to me. I made a white dress with a black midriff and black straps—it looked awesome!

I bought fabric and made every outfit I wore to school that year. I could finally strut down the halls! Girls would ask, ‘Where’d you get that?’ After I’d made Simone’s dress, other friends asked me to make them one, then my friends’ moms, and even the girls who teased me! By sophomore year, I’d earned $2,000!

taking care of business

Junior year, sewing was no longer just a hobby—it was my ticket out of poverty. So I took a business class to learn how to price my clothes. Turns out, they were worth hundreds! I decided to enter my business plan into a national competition, and I placed second in the country! The prize? Meeting President Obama! Then that publicity landed me on The Tyra Show! Being recognized for my hard work felt totally unreal.

But there was still drama at school. As I was sitting in class one day, I heard I’d won Most Likely to Succeed. I was thrilled. But then I heard a girl whisper, ‘People only voted for her because of Tyra and Obama.’ It stung so badly—that pain of being made fun of all those years came rushing back. But I collected myself. I realized that people were always going to try to cut me down, whether I was on the bottom or the top. I knew then that it’s up to me to rise above it all.

Today I’m putting myself through Northwestern University, and I devote all my free time to my business. I’ve sold more than 300 one-of-a-kind pieces—enough to pay for most of my tuition. But my business isn’t what I’m most proud of. I donate clothes to fashion shows for the Chicago Coalition for the Homeless. Ticket sales raise money for people who grew up like I did. I know there’s a girl out there who dreams of designing but can’t afford a sewing machine. If I can show her how to make a better life for herself, then I’ll know I’ve succeeded.”

THE FIGHTER

She's the living definition of driven—and speeding her way to racing history!

shannon mcintosh

AGE: 22

HOMETOWN: Miamisburg, OH

WHY SHE'S PRETTY AMAZING:

"When I was growing up, my friends never understood why I raced cars. The crowd would stare at me like I was a freak—a little girl kicking grown guys' butts on the track. But I never thought of myself as a female driver, just a driver. Nothing scared me!

As I got older and more advanced in the sport, I had to learn to be a business woman and network like crazy. Racing can be expensive, and I needed hundreds of thousands of dollars in sponsorships. I got a ton of nos at first, so I couldn't race year-round. But this year, I raised enough to race full-time! I've won more than 100 races in my career, and I'm proud to be the only American woman racing in IndyCar's USF2000 Series. (It's like the Indy 500 minor leagues.) I plan to go pro in 2014 and compete in the Indy 500. No woman has ever won—I will be the first!

One day when I was doubting that I'd ever succeed, I was Googling 'inspiration' and found the Japanese word nintai. It means to be patient and persevere. It reminds me that there are always going to be obstacles, but that's no reason to give up. That's my mantra—and my message to other girls: You can make your dreams happen."

THE VISIONARY

Film directing gave her a voice—now she's using it to tell other teens' stories.

a director is born

Lauren takes charge on the set of her film A Message of Hope, helping the production crew understand her vision.

lauren lindberg

AGE: 18

HOMETOWN: Danville, CA

WHY SHE'S PRETTY

AMAZING: "Freshman year of high school, I was in a dark place. My grades were down, and for two years, I felt so depressed and unfocused that I thought I'd feel uninspired forever. I even dyed my hair black to match my mood! Then a doctor diagnosed me with ADD and depression. I took medication and went to therapy—but what really helped me get back on track was taking a video production class my junior year. I loved editing footage and telling people's stories. It was the first time in years I'd felt excited!

I loved it so much that I joined a video club outside of school, where I got to make documentaries about anything I wanted. For my first big project, I focused on an amazing group of blind teens who don't let their disability stop them from reaching their goals. It's such a powerful message! The club helped me get my films shown at 19 international film festivals—and win 9 festival awards! Recently, I finished a film called A Message of Hope, which features teens talking about difficult issues, like sexuality, sick siblings, and absent parents. I want teens to know that whenever you feel hopeless, there is someone out there who understands—and there are resources that can help you get out of that dark place, just like I did."

THE PROTECTOR

Bullies beware: She's on a mission to end online abuse!

nina montgomery

AGE: 19

HOMETOWN: Ridgewood, NJ

WHY SHE'S PRETTY AMAZING:

"As I looked around the Ben & Jerry's parking lot in my hometown, I was blown away by the dozens of high school students who had shown up to my rally. They were waving their homemade posters and showing off their painted faces. I realized in that moment that my anti-bullying campaign, 'Don't Stand By, Stand Up,' and its message—that witnessing bullying and staying silent about it is just as harmful as being a bully—was actually making an impact.

I'd been passionate about the issue since joining Wired Safety, an Internet education organization, in seventh grade. Each year, I spoke about ending cyberbullying at schools—and even to members of Congress in D.C.! Talking to powerful senators was unbelievable. Who knew that the people who ran the country would actually listen to me? But freshman year of college, I became even more committed to the cause when I got tragic news through Facebook: A high school classmate, Tyler Clementi, committed suicide after his Rutgers roommate secretly filmed him and posted it online. I was so shocked that I couldn't move or speak. His death made my goal even more clear: I want to get one million students to join my campaign—the message is louder when we raise our voices together."

finding her focus

Ann chats with models while she shoots them, so they loosen up and give her carefree, relaxed poses.

ann he

AGE: 16

HOMETOWN: Dallas, TX

WHY SHE'S PRETTY AMAZING:

"When my parents gave me a camera as a middle school graduation gift, I couldn't stop taking pictures! I'd bring it everywhere, zooming in on anything that inspired me, like a lemon slice delicately hanging on the edge of a water glass. I loved shooting fashion photos best, because models can capture the emotion of a moment with their facial expressions and clothes. So I went online to find models who would pose. I didn't put my age at the time. (I was only 15!) At my first shoot, I captured an image of a model twirling in a tutu with her eyes closed, smiling, as the sunlight shone through the tulle. It was magical! I started posting my shots on Flickr, where photographers 'liked' them. Soon major fashion blogs like Fashion Gone Rogue were praising my work! I couldn't believe it! A girl featured in Seventeen earlier this year even pointed to me as her fashion inspiration!

Suddenly, I got calls for paying jobs—shooting weddings, fashion magazine spreads (like Elle Girl Korea!), and ad campaigns (like Nike!). I even got a letter from a teen girl in China saying that my success made her pursue her own passion, writing. Whether you're into dancing, singing, painting: Keep doing whatever brings you joy—and fill the world with even more beauty."

grow it LONG

When you take care of your hair, it'll reward you by growing mega-long!

PROTEIN TREATMENT

Splits, tangles, and tugging from styling can sabotage new growth. Use a leave-in treatment that protects your locks so they don't break off.

try: Redken Extreme Anti-Snap Leave-In Treatment, $16, salons

SINGLE-PASS IRON

Going over your hair with a flat-iron too many times can fry delicate ends—and you'll have to cut them off! Go for a one-pass iron that heats up fast and straightens hair evenly and safely!

try: T3 SinglePass Compact Flat Iron, $79, Bloomingdale's

SPLIT-END CREAM

Tattered ends can actually split all the way up the hair shaft, making your whole head of hair look damaged. A moisturizing cream made specifically for splits helps to bind together frayed ends so they don't get worse.

try: Pantene Normal-Thick Hair Split End Repair Crème, $6, drugstores create amazing TEXTURE

With these miracle treatments, you'll never use the words frizzy or flat again.

MAJOR MOISTURE MASK

When curly hair turns into a big fuzz ball, it's a sign that your strands and scalp need hydration! An intense treatment with sweet almond oil and vitamin E fights frizz for days to keep your ringlets defined, shiny, and bouncy.

try: It's a 10 Miracle Hair Mask, $23, itsa10haircare.com for salons

BOREDOM

School-day hair doesn't have to be blah! Shake up your everyday style with these super-easy updates.

DOUBLE PONY

For a pony that's twice as nice, apply a moisturizing paste on dry hair for major shine, and then split hair in half horizontally. Create a pony with the top half and wrap a piece of hair around the elastic. Gather the top tail and bottom half to make another pony.

try: Pureology DryShine Hairstyler, $22, pureology.com for salons

HIGH BUN

Take your bun to new heights! Apply a defining clay to dry hair to create texture, and then gather hair into a high pony at the top of your head. Secure with an elastic. Wrap your pony around the elastic, and set with bobby pins. Fluff it up and pull out some shorter layers.

try: Wella Professionals Texture Touch Reworkable Clay, $16, wella.com for salons

DUTCH BRAID

An inside-out braid makes you stand out! Smooth flyaways with a creamy pomade. Start the braid opposite your part near your hairline, bringing the hair under—rather than over—with each pass. Continue to the nape of your neck, then pull all your hair loosely into a side bun. Fasten with an elastic.

"I once went out with a guy because I was secretly in love with his best friend. I know it was wrong, but I was desperate to do anything to make him notice me."

JUICY LOVE SECRETS

Have you ever had a secret so scandalous that you couldn't even tell your BFF? You're not the only one with something to spill.

BY ELISA BENSON

Secrets are incredibly powerful—they could break up a relationship, make a friend hate your guts, or prompt your parents to put you on house arrest until you're 100. So you keep them bottled up inside, swearing you'll never tell a soul, and try to think about them as little as possible so you don't go crazy. Of course, there are good secrets, too—like a hookup so hot that you can't help smiling every time you remember each delicious detail. Or maybe you've realized you're in love—but haven't yet dared to tell the other person. As powerful as it is to have that kind of information, it's also exhausting and overwhelming. So we gave Seventeen readers the chance to get it all out, totally anonymously. Take a peek into the scandalous truths other girls are hiding—it will help you realize that no matter what secret you're keeping, you're not alone.

CHEATING CONFESSIONS

Giving in to forbidden lust is the most delicious feeling—but there could be major consequences if it ever got out.

a game turned serious! “One night at a party, I was playing spin the bottle and landed on my ex. My friend jokingly told us to get a room, but we took it seriously and hooked up for nearly two hours! Too bad I have a boyfriend. I’m crossing my fingers that he never finds out.”

“I CAN’T GIVE UP MY EX!”

“A year into my current relationship, my ex texted me out of the blue. I was surprised but secretly thrilled to know that I was on his mind again. We started texting regularly, and soon it turned flirtatious—like sending pictures and having sexy conversations about hooking up. I say stuff to him that I don’t even say to my boyfriend! I know it crosses a line, but it feels so good to be wanted by him—so I can’t stop responding. Sometimes I feel guilty, but I tell myself that as long as I don’t physically do anything with my ex, it doesn’t really count as cheating—right?”

it was sexier than having sex!

“I was doing a 24-hour fundraiser with my best guy friend—my BF couldn’t make it because he had a family reunion—and part of it involved a night shift where most people slept in their cars. We knew that would be uncomfortable, so we drove to his cousin’s house nearby—where we had to share a bed. As soon as we climbed in, I could feel a spark between us. It took two seconds for us to start making out. We ended up taking off our clothes and sleeping next to each other, totally naked. I was so excited, I couldn’t think straight! But in the morning, I couldn’t believe what I had done. To this day, my guy friend and I are the only ones who know what happened. But thinking about it makes me feel awful.”

MY SECRET HEARTACHE

Love is the very best feeling in the world—except when you can’t tell a soul.

i’m falling for my friend! “I have sexual thoughts about my best friend, and I think she might feel the same way. We text about it all the time, but I can’t tell if she’s joking. I wish I had the guts to confess.”

“I’M KEEPING MY BF A SECRET!”

“No one knows that for the past six months, I’ve been hooking up with a guy in his twenties—and I’m only 17. We’re absolutely in love and he wants to tell everyone that we’re in a relationship, but I’m terrified that my parents would freak out—or worse, that we’d get in legal trouble. I hate keeping our love a secret, but it’s the only way we can be together.”

i’m desperate to tell my guy friend how i feel! “I’m totally in love with my best guy friend and he has no idea. He constantly asks me for advice about girls, so I bear down, give it to him, and pretend like it’s not killing me. He doesn’t even see what’s right in front of him.”

"I told her it was no big deal if she went out with my ex—but it killed me to see them together."

GIRL CRIMES

Friends are supposed to be forever—but sometimes you can't help looking out for yourself.

i sabotaged my bestie! "When I saw my friend flirting with the guy I liked, I felt incredibly jealous—so I lied and told her I'd overheard him saying that she was desperate. She backed off and I got with him!"

i was the other girl! "My friend always questioned whether there was something going on between her boyfriend and me, and of course, I denied it. But the truth is, I was hooking up with him for months before they finally split up. She's still in the dark!"

his biggest secret

You're not the only one with something to hide!

i couldn't move on

"I was so obsessed with checking my ex's Facebook that I finally deactivated my account. I told everyone I was 'over Facebook,' but it was all because of her."
—james, 21, los angeles, ca

i get flirting help

"With a girl I really like, sometimes it takes me 10 minutes to write her a text. I'll even send it to my bros first to make sure it's okay. But I'd never admit that to a girl!"
—melton, 20, manhattan, ks

i lied to my girl

"One girl I dated hated that I partied, so I would tell her I was doing family stuff, then go out with my friends anyway. She was clueless."
—ramon, 18, bronx, ny

"I HOOKED UP WITH MY BEST FRIEND'S CRUSH!"

“My best friend and I fell for the same guy, and even though we never talked about it, I eventually backed off—that's what friends do! Then at a big overnight party, her crush kept talking to me. I noticed my friend shooting me dirty looks, but I told myself that if she was really upset, she'd confront me. Soon, it was 4 A.M., and he and I were the only two people still awake. He scooted closer to me on the couch and I knew he wanted to kiss me—so I leaned in and pressed my lips against his. We ended up making out for the next two hours, with my friend asleep in the same room! The next morning, she drove me home in silence. I knew she was mad because I flirted with him, but she has no idea how far it really went!”

i stole her boyfriend! "I fell in love with my best friend's guy, and I thought he felt the same way—he was always finding reasons to hang out with me alone. One night, he blurted out that he didn't love my friend anymore, and the next day, he dumped her. I knew I should have felt bad for her, but I was so happy! She has no idea that now I'm seeing him behind her back."

COLLEGE

Excited (and a little nervous) about the next four years? Here's your sneak peek at seventeen

BUZZ

CONFIDENTIAL

what's ahead—the good, the bad, and the totally crazy! By the Seventeen College Interns
*Macey Hall, Ali Ivanoff, Evelyn Kramer, Hannah Kupfer, Monica Rosenkranz & Maggie Zellner

ROOKIE MISTAKES

Screwups are a normal part of being a freshman—but you don't have to learn the hard way!

partying way too much

“There were so many parties during the first few weeks of school that I got in the habit of going out all night, then sleeping all day—even through class. I was so dazzled by my new freedom that I didn't notice I was being irresponsible—until I bombed my finals. I ended up taking second semester off to pull myself together. Now I make sure partying is just one part of my routine—not all of it.”

—Caroline, sophomore, The George Washington University

staying with your hs bf

“I was totally in love with my high school boyfriend, but when I went to college while my boyfriend finished his senior year of high school, things changed. He got upset if I went to parties or worked on a paper instead of talking to him, so I started to feel like I was missing out. When we finally broke up, I was so relieved. College is your chance for a fresh start, and you can't do that if you're holding on to the past.”

—Jasmin, junior, Hampton University

obsessing over your major

“I spent my whole life saying that I wanted to be a fourth-grade teacher, so at college, I took as many education classes as I could—even though I wasn't sure I really liked them. Now as a senior, I'm stuck: I've realized that education isn't what I want to do for the rest of my life, but I have to finish this major if I want to graduate on time. I wish I had listened to everyone who said that college is a time to try different things—you don't need to commit to a set path on your first day.”

—Jaclyn, senior, University of Maryland

what really happens in college

There is some truth to campus clichés, but most aren't as likely as you think!

ALWAYS!

gaining the freshman 15

With constant access to pizza, fries, and late-night munchies at the 24-hour dining hall, it's hard to stay the same size you were at senior prom! Just try not to splurge every night.

getting sexiled

You're headed to your dorm when your roomie texts to say she needs privacy to hook up. Argh! It's bound to happen at least once, so make some friends on your floor who are cool with letting you crash in their room.

doing the walk of shame

A heated all-night makeout is super-fun (no curfew, wheeee!) until you have to walk home in the A.M. clearly wearing last night's dress. Sounds embarrassing, but it's easy to avoid if you and a friend vow to leave parties together.

becoming BFFs with your roommate

In a perfect world, she would love your TV shows and lend you her clothes. But usually she ends up being a casual friend you happen to share space with. Don't be bummed if you're not instant besties!

NEVER!

FROSH YEAR TIMELINE

Your first year is an emotional roller coaster! You'll enjoy the ride more if you're prepared.

HIGH

the first week of school

Holy stimulation! Every minute is packed with new adventures and new people. Roommates! Greek row! Facebook friends! Freedom! It's totally overwhelming, but you're running on adrenaline!

LOW

the newness fades

A month in, major homesickness sneaks up on you. You feel like your college friends will never know you as well as your friends from high school, and you'd do anything to cuddle with your puppy at home. Wah!

start of winter break

You're finally home! OMG! You've never been so excited to see old friends, have Mom do your laundry, and sleep in your own room (without noisy hallmates barging in!). Goodbye, finals—hello, DVR!

PARTY PLANNER!

Theme parties rule at college! Pack your costumes now for these awesome bashes.

tacky holiday sweater party

This one is a college classic! Pull out those crazy flannel pj's or snag a heinous cross-stitch Rudolph sweater at the Goodwill. The more horrible-looking, the better!

Tacky fun at the University of Southern California

abc (anything but clothes)

You can show up wearing anything—except actual clothes—so people go nuts with duct tape, cardboard, or even Saran Wrap. The more creative you are, the more attention you'll get!

Juniors pose in tape "dresses" at Cornell University

splattered-paint party

Everyone wears white and is given squirt guns and squeeze bottles filled with neon paint. It's a total mess—and totally fun! Just don't forget sunglasses to protect your peepers.

Messing around at the University of Pennsylvania

name that tune

Come dressed as a singer, the title of a song, or even a funny lyric. (Check out these girls dressed as "Over the Rainbow." LOL!)

Feeling the music at Boston College

AVOID MAJOR MELTDOWNS

Overcommitting, sleeping too little, and stressing about school can lead to first-year burnout—but it doesn't have to.

I jumped into so many activities my first year of college—a sorority, theater, even a job—that I was busy and stressed all the time. Then one Saturday night, my roomie encouraged me to blow off plans and just hang out and order Chinese food. We laughed all night, and it reminded me that sometimes you just need to pause. It's easy to dive into all the new opportunities in front of you, but it's just as important to learn how to take a breather!

—Rebekah, sophomore, Columbia University

17 FYI: Colleges know the first-year transition is tough, so they have tons of resources in place—talk to your campus health services about scheduling a confidential visit, or go to ulifeline.org for college help from The Jed Foundation.

Caroline, Tarrant County College

MEET THE NEW FRESHMAN 15!

Fifteen girls across the country are telling you everything about their first year of college—as it happens! Follow them at seventeen.com/freshman15!

LOW end of winter break

You feel ansty. You're pretty much doing the same stuff with your high school friends that you did all last year, and your parents' rules are seriously getting on your nerves. (Curfew? What?) You can't wait to get back to college!

HIGH spring semester

You get back to campus and realize you actually missed these people! And sure, your dorm room is even more baby-size than you remembered, but you love having space that's totally yours.

LOW finals

Just when you're finally getting the hang of college, it's over! Yes, you're excited to see your home friends, but they just won't understand your funny stories about the crazy things you did this year.

HIGH leaving college

As you pack up your dorm, hug your roomie goodbye, and brace yourself for a whole summer with a 1 a.m. curfew, you have a revelation: You've got three more years at this place. And. They. Will. Be. Epic.

TRAUMARAMA!

Everyone has had humiliating moments.

on a roll

"One morning, my friends and I decided to roll down a steep hill by my school. I must have swerved on the way down because I slammed into a tree. They all laughed, while I had to limp to school with messed-up hair and ripped clothes."

I had to sit in class looking insane the rest of the day!"

dumb-dumb-da-dumb

"My BF was a groomsman in a wedding so I showed up alone. But I didn't recognize anyone coming down the aisle—I was at the wrong wedding! I couldn't get up or I'd make a scene, so when it ended 45 minutes later, I ran outside, found my BF, and tried to cover my tracks by telling him how handsome he looked going down the aisle. He gave me a weird look—the bridal party was stuck in traffic and the wedding hadn't started yet! I didn't need to touch up my blush the rest of the night because I was so red-faced."

bromance

"During a school dance, my friend dared me to go 'freak' in the center of the dance floor. So I backed my way onto the floor with everyone watching and started to dance like crazy, grinding into a guy behind me. When I turned around to see who it was, I realized it was my brother! I was so humiliated that I wouldn't even eat dinner with him and my family for a week."

photo finish

"I was assigned to photograph a football game for my school newspaper. As I crouched near the sidelines, I was so focused on getting a good action shot that I didn't notice the ball coming right at my head! It knocked me down and everyone laughed. Even worse, my camera broke, all of my photos were erased, and I got demoted to covering teacher news at the paper."

CELEB TRAUMA!

This is the dress!

"I was on the red carpet and wore a bandage dress with a sheer liner underneath. I turned around to pose for the cameras and ended up bearing my butt to them! The liner had crept up in the back and you could see everything through the bands. I was mortified!"

OCTOBER HOROSCOPES

by sally brompton

libra

Sep 23–Oct 22

Even though you text your girls 24/7, you've been missing face time with them. They miss you too, Libra! Thankfully around the 6th, the planets will make sure you're all free on the same day for a girls' night in. PS: Don't be surprised if you score juicy gossip about a guy you like!

capricorn

Dec 22–Jan 19

A close friend is into your BF's hottest pal, and she's bugging you to hook her up. Face it: Dates with your guy have been a bit stale lately, and having a fun couple to hang with would liven things up! Wait until the 9th to set them up: Thanks to Venus, they'll have a better shot of hitting it off.

aries

Mar 21–Apr 19

You can't stop checking out your ex's Facebook and commenting on all his posts. Before you tag him in another pic, know that a cute guy who's interested in you will notice around the 23rd—and he'll worry you're too obsessed to date anyone new. Is that the signal you want to send?

cancer

Jun 21–Jul 22

The class clown is so not your usual type, but the funniest guy in school seems to be on a mission to make you laugh. Near the 14th, he'll send you a text that shows you his sweeter side, and you'll be completely smitten. Your girls won't get it at first, but eventually they'll see he's the guy for you!

scorpio

Oct 23–Nov 21

Your crush has had a girlfriend for ages, and though you wish they'd split, you've never crossed the line with him. But on the 26th (when the new moon will make it nearly impossible to control your feelings), he'll ask to hang out alone. Be warned: If his GF finds out, she won't play nice.

aquarius

Jan 20–Feb 18

Feeling frazzled? Usually your BFF is around to talk you down when you're totally stressed, but lately you guys have been out of sync. Frustrating! Luckily on the 21st, the stars will give you two a chance to talk, and she'll have great advice for you, as always. Hold on till then, Aqua girl!

taurus

Apr 20–May 20

You do fine at school without having to work too hard, but one teacher seems to have it out for you. Near the 13th, she'll ask for your opinion in class and you'll wow everyone (including yourself!) with your fierce debating skills. No more coasting: It's time to tap your strengths for real.

leo

July 23–Aug 22

Lately a pal can't stop whining, and if you hear another complaint, you'll lose it! Annoying, yes, but she's stuck in a rut and can't see her way out. That's where you come in: On the 16th, you'll use your Leo enthusiasm and leadership talents to help her figure out her next move. Yay!

sagittarius

Nov 22–Dec 21

When good things happen to your friends, you feel genuinely happy for them. But ever since your BFF started dating one guy seriously, you've been so jealous. Hang in there until the 12th: The full moon will bring a sweet guy into your life, and you two will become flirty friends, then more. . . .

pisces

Feb 19–Mar 20

You and a cutie outside your circle have been texting like crazy, and the messages are getting flirty! But when he doesn't reply at the start of the month, you'll begin to doubt your bond. It's the universe playing tricks on you, Pisces! By the 9th, his feelings will be totally clear.

gemini

May 21–Jun 20

Okay, you've been in a bit of dating slump. (Hey, it happens to everyone, even Gems!) So when a guy you have zero interest in starts flirting with you, you'll banter back just for the attention. It will all seem like harmless fun until the 26th—when he falls hard for you. Uh-oh!
